When Greinke is the starting pitcher, he replaces the DH in the lineup above.

Starters are generally to pitch until fatigued .

Bullpen

Joe Nathan is the closer for Rye. He can regularly come in in the middle of the 8th inning to get a 1 2/3 inning save.

Hawkins, Blevins and Javier Lopez are the set-up men, 7th into the 8th. Blevins and Javier Lopez are the lefty specialists too. and short relief guys. Stauffer is the long relief man. Use all five relievers regularly to get the bumps.

Don't worry about innings. I'll worry about that.

Offense

Hit and Run – I'd like to focus more on the hit and run than straight steals. Nine guys are h&r 2. Use the hit and run with the guys with steal ratings greater than 26 on first, and any of the 2 h&r guys up.

Stealing – The above being said, if a run is needed to tie or win, consider stealing with the guys who have net steal ratings above 30. There aren't many candidates.

Base Advances – Use the Adams Tables.

Bench – What bench you say? Well, it is what it is. Anyone on the bench can be used. Don't worry about usage. If a lefty comes in, use the guys who can hit lefties. Berkman can pinch hit against the catchers, and should do so once per game in reasonably close games to see if he can get a walk. Oddly enough, the team's pinch runner, if a tie or go ahead run is needed, is F15 Jeff Samardzija on days he doesn't pitch. Nunez can pinch run and steal a base if needed.

Defensive Replacements – There are not many options.

This team needs to win its division to make the playoffs, and there are several close competitors. Pull out all managerial stops to win. Unfortunately, the team has few managerial stops to consider. Somehow get a lead with these base cloggers, and get to Nathan.

I will send instructions each month...
